WANTS TO KNOW

A prominent citizen of Wilson after reading a statement in the papers a few days ago where the revenue act permits one to make 200 gallons of wine from fruit grown on his own premises, reads today that the revenue department says that this applies to unfertilized juice without alcoholic content.

The gentleman after reading the article wishes further information. He wants to know how much time will be allowed by the department for the fermentation of the brew, and whether the owner of the liquid must drink the juice before it ferments at all. Will the revenue department kindly give the required information?

THE TARIFF ON FERTILIZER

The Daily News has the word of a fertilizer manufacturer for it that the tariff on potash as fixed in the Fordney bill, which will be the basis of a "permanent" tariff enacted by congress sometime between this and the blooming of the flowers in spring, will increase the price of fertilizers $2 or more per ton, according to formula. Among the heavy handicaps that agriculture has labored under the past year is the inability to buy the quantity and quality of fertilizers needed for the crops. Farmers everywhere should send letters of protest to their representatives against such a tariff, which becomes a direct tax upon agriculture. But the average citizen who is not a farmer stands to be injured no less; this is a tax that can only result in the decreased productivity of the soil and the increased cost of food.—Greensboro Daily News.

VIRGINIA PAPERS STAND BY THEIR DIRECTORS

To show how the Virginia papers are standing by and encouraging Bradley and the Virginia League directors in their highhanded methods and decisions is indicated by the Norfolk Virginian Pilot which says that in the event that Wilson and Rocky Mount claim the championship, and endeavor to play it off between themselves, that it will be an open deft of the League, and the two cities will be automatically suspended and they may be debarred from entering any league having the protection of the National Association of Minor Baseball Leagues. The paper says it is also certain that the major Leagues will stand by the decision of Judge Landis.

The paper anticipates that the North Carolina towns will leave the Virginia League in any event and that the Virginia League will be composed of six teams next season.

APPOINTMENT OF JUDGE ADAMS

Ever since the death of Associate Justice Allen there has been much speculation as to whom the Governor would appoint to fill his place. The general consensus of opinion was that Attorney General Manning was the choice of the Governor, and after him District Attorney Tom Warren, on account of the fact, the latter has served his party as chairman of the Democratic State Executive committee and was desired by the leaders.

There was opposition to the appointment of Mr. Warren in certain quarters and so the appointment of Hon. William J. Adams resulted.

Judge Adams has held court in the majority of the counties in the state and brings with him a long experience from the Superior Court bench. He is considered one of the best judges in the state and is amply qualified by temperament, experience and knowledge of the law for the high position.

THE VERDICT OF COURTS

A prominent citizen of the county was discussing the verdict of courts with the Editor of the Times this morning, and he advanced the opinion that the apparent leniency of the courts with offenders of the law, is the main reason why people have so little disregard for the law, and frequently attempt to take it in their own hands.

He cited an instance which occurred during the last court. A negro who has been in a number of troubles, with an admittedly bad reputation was tried for the larceny of goods from a merchant in a Wilson county town, which being small is without adequate police protection. This negro was sent to the roads for thirty days with permission to hire out.

He says that this same negro has stolen previously an automobile and other things, and that thirty days is not sufficient punishment to inflict, and that it will not prove a deterrent to others who are inclined to do likewise.

We quite agree with the gentleman. Until the courts rise to their duty in the matter, and punish crime to a greater degree, they cannot hope to have the respect that the people should feel for them, as upholders of crime, and upholders of the law. The Times advocates nothing more or less than obedience to the law, but there is a duty to be fulfilled by the courts as well as the people in the application of the law.

THOROUGHLY INCENSED

A number of business men of Wilson are thoroughly wrought up over the treatment accorded us by Bradley and the Virginia League directors. We learn that several have cancelled orders, and informed traveling men from Richmond and Norfolk that they are through trading with these cities, since it seems that the people of these towns are giving support to the decisions to cheat Wilson out of the pennant she has so justly won.

It seems that this is the only way to handle the Virginia cities. We recall very clearly that they have consistently opposed any equitable basis for freight rates, that would place North Carolina towns on an equality with them. For years they have enjoyed the lower rates from the north and west to the Virginia gateways, which are the Virginia cities, and made the rates to North Carolina towns merely local and therefore higher, thus placing the entire state at a disadvantage.

By reason of these rates the large jobbing houses have located in Norfolk and Richmond, and have lived on North Carolina and built their cities at our expense. But for the trade from North Carolina the grass would be growing a great deal farther up in the cities of Norfolk and Richmond than it is now doing, and truck would be growing on their principal boulevards.

The Virginia cities have felt that they were entitled to peculiar advantages, and had the right to exploit this state. In fact it seems that the Virginia cities feel that they own North Carolina body and soul.

This idea seems to extend to baseball, and now they line up as a man with the Virginia papers boosting the directors, and urging them on in their unsportsmanlike methods.

Well may one feel that the directors of the Virginia towns are receiving support and sympathy from their people when every director wires Bradley endorsing his underhand methods in taking the games away from the North Carolina teams, when they know that each and every one of them are guilty of doing the same thing.

MEETING IN ROCKY MOUNT.

Mr. E. L. Edwards, Wilson representative of The Motor Company, which has offices in Rocky Mount, was in Rocky Mount to attend a dinner given by the Rocky Mount office to the company's representatives in this district Saturday. Mr. H. S. Deal, manager, was the official host. In addition to Mr. Edwards Messrs. J. P. Elliott, W. Van Tassel and W. B. Dodd, all of whom work in eastern Carolina territory, were present.

ORPHANS GIVE

PLEASING PROGRAM
The chorus from the Odd Fellows' Orphanage at Goldsboro gave a very entertaining program at the high school auditorium last night. The program deserved a larger audience than was present. A small crowd was in attendance. The chorus was made up of 10 girls and 4 boys and furnished a varied program of songs. There were songs to please everybody, and the audience was highly entertained. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas of the Orphanage were in charge of the boys and girls.

Receipts from the concert together with donations from friends of the Orphanage here amounted to $350. A committee from the local lodge of Odd Fellows will accept any other contributions that friends may desire to give.

BRADLEY'S DUPLICITY

In order to show President Bradley's duplicity, and that he has juggled the situation with the Virginia towns and the North Carolina teams, and played fast and loose with both, is indicated by the following letter from Mr. West to Mr. Eagles.

This letter was written last night in Richmond by Mr. West and at that very moment Mr. West did not know that Bradley had cancelled the meeting for tonight. The letter from Mr. West throws much interesting light on the situation, as well as information disclosing the fact that all the clubs were outside the salary limit.

Mr. J. C. Eagles,
Wilson, N. C.

Dear Mr. Eagles:

I spent practically the entire afternoon in Mr. Bradley's office and was treated by him with the utmost courtesy. I had access to the League files and completed a list of salary affidavits of the Suffolk, Newport News, Norfolk, Portsmouth and Richmond Ball Clubs, thruout most of the season. I find as expected that names of various ball players do not occur on salary affidavits, just as you and I contemplated that they would not. I also find that in two or three cases salaries of players as shown by their signed contracts, do not agree with sworn statements of the club. I find also that in case of Mathag, Portsmouth has him signed at $250.00, while his contract with Suffolk called for $300.00. Of course Portsmouth secured the service of Black, Mathag, Kearns and Ray since the first of August; even their affidavits of August 15th fail to show these names. They thus violated article 7, section 6 of the Virginia League Constitution.

I failed to find the names of McClellan and Carroll on the Richmond list; the contract of McClellan called for $375.00 per month and that of Carroll for $300.00. Furthermore Shannon's contract with Petersburg was for $275.00 per month; Richmond has him listed at $250.00. Richmond claims that she is allowed the privilege of adding the salary of one man to the $3050.00 limit because of the fact that their manager is a non-playing manager. Again Ryan has admitted to me since this afternoon's game that he is over the salary limit, and has been all season. Landis questioned the Richmond ball club about this matter; they admitted their guilt yet he took no action.

Norfolk salary affidavit shows Henges on the pay roll June 15th; his name does not appear on affidavit of July 9th, covering 15th to 30th of June; it appears for four days pay on statement dated August 1st, and on the statement covering August 1st to 15th, mentions the fact that Henges has been let out to Suffolk. Kruger's name appears first in their statement dated July 9th; it does not appear on statement of August 1st; but on that of August 1st to 15th a notation is made that Kruger is now with Suffolk. Kruger's contract calls for a salary of $200.00 per month.

Practically the same sort of dope holds good in reference to Suffolk except that they admit being over the salary limit.

Newport News has violated the rule preventing the exchange of players after August 1st, and they also kept names off the pay roll during the first half that should have appeared. The rule governing exchange of players after the date mentioned has as you know been violated by Suffolk and Portsmouth. Richmond made the attempt but failed to get the man sought after.

Every team in the league except Wilson has violated the seven day suspension rule, which prohibits the matter of suspending a player for less than seven days, in order to add a new man to the lineup for a trial without first releasing a former player.

There is no doubt but that the player limit has been violated by other clubs in the league, in addition there have been several transfers of scheduled games without securing consent of other clubs in the circuit. Bradley actually seems sorry that he took action in the matter of throwing the Wilson games out. He is as mad as can be at Lucas, but spoke in the very highest terms of you. If you can come up do so, for your presence will add much to our chances.

Mr. Bradley says that there can be no possible objection to our playing a series of games with Rocky Mount, if we desire. I have secured his written permission to stage these exhibition games if we care to do so. He states that he has full authority to grant this privilege.

Bradley furthermore recommends that we take up our case with Judge Landis in an effort to secure a reversal of his decision regarding the first half. This would automatically remove charges against us for the second half.

If we can show the Directors to-strange reasons for refusing to sell tomorrow night that Judge Landis decision was given because Rocky Mount failed to file affidavits stating the salaries paid, instead of trying to cover the actual amount of salaries, and that he did not throw out the games because the clubs were over the salary limit, then I believe that we can win our case. Mr. Bradley himself sees the thing somewhat differently since our conversation today.

I hope very much that you will be here tomorrow night. In either case we will give them a battle and will do all possible to secure a favorable decision.

Sincerely,
C. B. WEST.

Richmond, Va.

CONFERENCE OF TOWN AND COUNTY ADMINISTRATION OFFICIALS

Chapel Hill, Sept. 20.—City officials and others attending the Conference on Town and County Administration held under the auspices of the University and the National Municipal League, settled down to real business today. They did not content themselves with making and listening to speeches, but sat around tables plying each other with questions, and perused over budgets, balance sheets and tax statements, and compared various forms of legislative acts designed to help municipalities out of financial trouble.

When a formal session was not in progress, two men from outside the State were centers of interested groups. These were Dr. H. W. Dodds, secretary of the National Municipal League, and Arthur N. Pierson, member of the legislature of New Jersey. They have made a study of municipal problems and are able to tell what has been done by outside cities that have been confronted with the same difficulties that now confront North Carolina communities.

W. S. Roberson, mayor of Chapel Hill, welcomed the visitors at the morning session. Gallatin Roberts, mayor of Asheville and president of the North Carolina municipal association, spoke on "Financial Problems of North Carolina Towns Today." The topic of Mayor Eldridge of Raleigh, was, "Is It Safe to Take Liberties with the Laws Relating to Municipal Taxation in Anticipation of Curative Legislation?"

At the luncheon at Swain Hall Baxter Durham, State auditor, and Miss Hattie Berry, of the Good Roads Association, were speakers.

This afternoon North Carolina mayors and city managers are the leaders on the program. They are exchanging information about scientific budgets and other devices of modern municipal government.

SAVES YARD FOR CAT TO PLAY IN.

New York, Sept. 19.—A woman who owns a yard facing 50 feet on Fifth Avenue at 39th Street, in the center of the city's most fashionable shopping district, refuses to sell it because her cat "has to have a place to play in." The property is worth about $750,000 according to real estate men.

The dollars paid on it each year in taxes would, if stacked dollar on dollar, make a hurdle not to be sneered at by anything short of the cow who jumped over the moon. The cat is "just one of these yere everyday walkin' round cats." It was never known to take a prize at a cat show.

business district property which was eagerly sought by many buyers. Some time ago a man who owned a building in Broadway just below Times Square wanted contract stipulations that none of the prospective buyers would lease it to certain businesses. His list began with aviary and went right on down the alphabet to zylophone dealers, skipping so few lines of business that none would take the place.

Just above the Times Square section of Broadway an aged property owner had a vacant five story building that an automobile sales house wanted to lease. The papers were drawn up, and when the interested parties had gathered to sign it, the automobile representatives remarked that his concern was going to put "a nice electric sign on the roof." The owner laid down his pen and said no electric signs were going on top of his building. The deal was not closed and the building remained empty for six years when the owner died.
